THE SABBATH SCHOOL VISITOR

THE Visitor is Edited by the Rev. Asa Bullard, Secretary Mass. S. S. Society, and published at Boston, Monthly; each number containing 24 pages with a piece of Music, prepared for the work by Lowell Mason, Prof. of the Boston Academy of Music, and at least one engraving; and it comes at 50 cents a year in advance. The Society have found it necessary, in order to prevent losses, to adopt this rule, not to send the Visitor to any one, except Agents who become responsible, till the subscription is received.

This work is published for the purpose of aiding parents and teachers in the religious instruction of the young, and of interesting children and youth and also adults, in the study of the Bible.

The object of this article is to request Ministers, Superintendents and other friends of Sabbath Schools, to lend their influence in extending the circulation of this little work in their respective Societies, Schools and families. The SEVENTH volume commences with January next.

The subscriber is Agent for the Work and will receive subscriptions and deliver the numbers at BANGOR, free of any expense of freightage, to the subscribers.

A little effort would very much increase the circulation of the Visitor and it is believed, greatly aid those who are laboring for the welfare of the young. Will not Superintendents, especially, use their influence the present month, to introduce this periodical into their respective schools?

The subscriber is also Agent for all the Publications of the Mass. S. S. Society, and they can be had at No 6, Smith's Block, Bangor, at the Society's prices. E. F. DUREN 1m D18

IN THE HOUSE.

The States were called upon for Resolutions, and a considerable number were presented.

Among the rest,

Mr. Sherrod Williams presented one, declaring that the people sent their Representatives here to do business, not to talk politics, and that the House do now proceed to do that business, or go home, and let the people send those here who will.

The House refused to receive the Resolution by a very large majority.

Mr. Wise introduced a Resolution, based on a letter he read, from Col Hunter, of the Navy, demanding a Court Martial on Com. Elliot, for having grossly insulted him at Port Mahon, and for manifold misconducts while on the Mediterranean station. The resolution provided for enquiring of the Department why such a Court Martial had not been called.

It passed.

IN THE SENATE.

The Senators from North Carolina, Brown and Strange, presented the Resolutions of the Legislature of that State, which you have seen in the papers, [illegible] this, and made some remarks upon them to the effect that, as the Legislature had not used the word "instruct," in declaring their sentiments on certain subjects, likely to come before that body for the action of Senators, they the Senators, should not, although professors of the doctrine of instruction, consider themselves instructed and should neither "obey", nor "resign!" Brown took occasion to allude to what he chose to call the "disrepectful terms" towards the Senate of the U. States, in which the Legislature had seen fit to allude to that act of that body, by which their Journal had been mutilated. Strange also went over the usual arguments of professing instructionists, who never obey instructions and the two made themselves as ridiculous as their worst enemies could have desired.

The President of the Senate was about proceeding to other business, when

Mr. Henry Clay rose, and said he had a few remarks to make, as nobody else seemed desirous to do so, in relation to what had fallen from the Senators from North Carolina, in regard to the Resolutions just laid upon the table of the Senate. One of those Senators had denounced those resolutions, as disrepectful in terms, to the Senate.

Mr. Strange said that he had not done so.

Mr. Clay remarked that the Senator's colleague had.

Brown, (lying his length along the back of his chair,) nodded assent.

Mr. Clay then said that, if the Senator really thought them so, it was strange that he should have presented them to that body. But, he contended, they were not disrepectful. They alluded to the action of the Senate as to the expunging of a resolution of that body, and called it an act of servility to the Executive. The legislature of North Carolina had a right to express this opinion. It was one which they entertained in common with a vast majority, he believed, of the country.

As to the right of instruction, to a certain extent, as touching the general policy of measures, Mr. Clay was where the Democrats of '98 were on that point. He did not believe that that right contravened the exclusive right of the Senator to judge for himself, in construing the Constitution, under his oath of office, for himself.

These Senators who do hold to the doctrine of instruction, avow the principle that they are bound to represent the clearly expressed will of the people of their State, as expounded and expressed by the legislature. And, unless predisposed to act contrary to that will, before it is declared, it is impossible that they who honestly profess to believe in this doctrine should refuse to recognize it, no matter whether its expression be in one form or another. Is the will of the legislature clearly expressed? That is the true question. Is there no word but the word "instruct" that can convey this fact? Is there no other language tantamount to that? Nay, more! Is not the form of communicating their will to their Senators much more respectful, and entitled to regard and obedience, than it would be, couched in the form of a command? Was it not more delicately expressed, even, than it would have been, if these resolutions bore the mandatory form? For his part, he thought so. He always adopted this course in his intercourse with men, preferring to ask, even where he had a right to command, a thing to be done. His "own Charles" would a great deal more cheerfully do whatever was wanted at that faithful servant's hands, when asked, as he had always asked him, courteously, than he would do, were the terms mandatory. It was so with all and the very terms in which these resolutions were couched, not in command but by suggestion, should [illegible] them to the attention of those to whom they were addressed.

After some further remarks, Mr. Clay sat down, and was followed by

Strange. He said that the sentiments of the Senator from Kentucky were regarded by him, rather in the light of [illegible] of [illegible], than [illegible] he should not take his advice [illegible]. (Of course, nobody [illegible] at this declaration!) After [illegible] "[illegible]," he gave way to his [illegible] dole in some measure! I can play 'Ercles rarely! or a part to tear a cat in, to make all split!

[illegible] play, [illegible]

The raging rocks!
With shiv'ring shocks!
Shall break the locks!
&c &c &c. &c.

This is lofty! This is Ercles' vein!"

He lashed himself into a furious rage at Clay; told him he needed no advice from him! that this was no business of his! he would oust him of jurisdiction! he would make up no issue with him! the people of North Carolina would not acknowledge his right to interfere with their matters! him the author of the American System! allied with the old black-cockade-federal-blue-light-Hartford-Convention-alien-and-sedition-party! leagued with northern abolitionist! Opposed to instruction! despiser of the people! three times defeated! &c. &c. Not they! Wake snakes!! Phew w w! Hew w! Whizz! bang! bang! bung-bang!"

After this "part to tear a cat in" had been acted out, Mr. Clay rose very calmly, and with much cool and quiet dignity, said he was truly sorry to have so bitterly enraged the worthy senator from N C. He certainly had no intention to interfere improperly in any matters not legitimately before the senate for discussion. As the senator had presented the resolutions of the legislature of his state, as they had been read and had been made the basis of a speech from each of the senators, in the course of which a subject of great interest and importance to the people of all the states had been discussed, and some matters, in the former legislation of the senate were alluded to, he had certainly thought them fairly before the body for discussion; and, as no one else had signified a wish to reply, on behalf of the Legislature of North Carolina, he had made the few remarks he had done.

As to the personal tirade of the senator who had just sat down, he should enter into no defence of himself, upon any of the points that gentleman had seen fit to touch upon, in so uncalled-for and so impassioned a way. He would leave his conduct as a public man, in the hands of the people of his country to decide upon.

Mr. Clay said, (in reply to the remarks of Strange that he always took his (Mr. C's) course on a given subject as a beacon, to decide his own by.) that that was not his fashion. Opposed as he was to that gentleman's usual course in political matters, he would yet treat his opinions with so much respect, as to examine them to look a little into the matter, and decide deliberately, before acting in opposition to them. For they could agree it would seem sometimes; as, for instance, (under the instructions of the North Carolina Legislature,) upon the Graduation Bill.

Mr. Clay sat down, having again denied that he had interfered between the state of North Carolina and her Senators in an improper or unwarrantable manner.

Such was the ridiculous attitude into which these loud-voiced, open-mouthed brawlers about "instructions," descended upon this trying occasion.

The senate proceeded to other business, and I, who had been taking these notes on my hat, in a crowded gallery, made my escape to write them out.

Nothing of interest in the way of news.

Yours truly.

CONGRESS.—In the House, on the 15th, there was another debate on the Swartwout Resolution. Mr. Johnson of Maryland introduced a bill "to prevent defalcations in the revenue of the U. S. and insure its safe keeping," which was formally laid on the table and ordered to be printed.

In the House on the 16th, Mr Noyes offered the following resolution which was accepted:

Resolved, That the Committee on Military Affairs be instructed to enquire into the expediency of reporting a bill making an appropriation for the perfecting of a road, required for use as a Military Road, along the North Eastern Frontier of the United States, from the town of Eastport to the town of Houlton, both in the State of Maine, as recommended in the reports of Gen. John E. Wool and Major James D. Graham, of the U. S Army, made to the Department of War, on 29th December last.

In the Senate, Mr. Calhoun spoke against the Graduation Bill as it stands, and in favor of his project of ceding the public lands to the States in which they lie they paying one half the proceeds of the sale thereof to the Government. He should bring in a bill to that effect, he said, at the opening of the next session of Congress.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed, (equivalent to its passage,) by a vote of 27 to 23.

No nomination yet for county Attorney for your County. The Governor cannot determine who shall have the office, among the numerous applicants, Mr. G G. Cushman, of your city, in his letter to the Governor, asking for the office, refers the governor, for his fitness and qualification, to the Democratic Party of Penobscot, and not to the "Office-Seekers" that infest the Capitol. This reference has given great offence. Mr. Benj Wiggin, I understand, is very indignant at it. He considers it a personal insult. He claims the right to regulate the affairs of "the party" in that County, at least, the literary gentleman (who has been disappointed of being Attorney general) to the contrary notwithstanding. But don't fight, gentlemen, your scrambles are only for one short year. The people have determined hereafter to take these matters into their own hands. The loco foco majority of the present Legislature may reject a bill giving the election of County officers to the people; but a legislature will be elected next year, that will carry out the popular will on that subject. Experience shows that the people must retain the appointing power in their own hands, that it is not safe to delegate it.

Your readers will see, by the resolutions offered yesterday, by Mr. Paine of Sanford, as an amendment to Mr. Bradbury's resolution calling on the General Government for the Fourth Instalment of the Surplus Revenue, that there will probably be a long discussion on that subject. It is a little remarkable that the Loco focos in our Legislature are unwilling to pass a simple resolution calling on the General Government for what they have promised to deposit with the State, and that too, which the President in his Message, admits the government has on deposit in the Banks and in the hands of their Sub Treasurers, without all this opposition. Do they fear such a call "will embarrass the government." It can do the State no harm, certainly, to ask for it.

The proceedings of the Senate, to-day, have been unimportant.

In the House there has been a long discussion on a bill to incorporate "the Maine Steam Navigation Company." By the bill as reported, the private property of the Stockholders is not to be holden beyond the amount of their capital. This restriction it was moved to strike out. The debate has not been confined to the question before the House, but the subject of Corporations, has been fully discussed by Messrs Ide of Frankfort, Levenseller of Thomaston, Cary of Houlton, Allen of Alfred and Sheldon of Gardiner.

The restriction was striken out. Yeas 74 Nays 43.

After this amendment was disposed of, it was proposed so to amend the bill as to make the private property of Stockholders holden for the full amount of their debts.

This amendment was adopted yeas 77 nays 41.

A motion was then made to indefinitely postpone the bill, which did not prevail. Yeas 33; Nays 84.

The bill was then passed to be engrossed as amended.

☞ The legal voters of Bangor are reminded of the City meeting to-morrow, at 10, A. M. to take into consideration the expediency of petitioning the Legislature [illegible] Court.

All who wish to [illegible] of the city, and know the taxes more than a thousand dollars, had better be at [illegible]

MEXICO. Dates from Mexico have been received at New Orleans to the 23d Dec. The news is confirmed respecting the conflict between the French troops and Mexican forces under Santa Anna. The statement that the Mexican chief had been wounded, and had suffered amputation of the leg, proves to be correct. The city and castle have been evacuated by the French. Santa Anna has allowed eight days to the French residents in Vera Cruz for preparations for their departure, and sixty days have been accorded to the French in the interior for the same purpose. It was currently reported that the Mexican government had resolved upon the expulsion of all foreigners.

The French fleet had removed from Vera Cruz in order to renew the blockade of other Mexican ports. The corvette Creole, commanded by the Prince de Joinville, had gone to Havana on a cruise, and there now remain but four vessels of war before Vera Cruz. The blockade of the town is nevertheless strictly enforced, and no vessels whatever are allowed to enter by the French admiral to leave in about ten days for New Orleans, with one hundred and twenty French residents. The army of Santa Anna, about seven thousand strong, is said to be encamped at ten miles distance from the town.

Matamoras is besieged by the federalists, about 900 strong and is defended by a similar force under Gen. Filosola, no action has yet occurred.

☞ Oh, the misery, the slavery, the degradation, that is brought upon the worshippers of Bacchus! Why is it that men will make more than beasts of themselves, in spending their earnings for RUM that enemy to all that makes life desirable, that curse of connubial bliss; that destroyer of health, of peace, of happiness, that forerunner of want, of beggary, and pauperism! We were led to reflections similar to these, on leaving our labors, and while wending our way home, we came across a man decently clad, with a bag of potatoes on his shoulders, striving to gain the home, we doubt not, of a heart-broken and disconsolate wife. His legs refused to do their service, and he staggered and reeled to and fro "like a drunken man," as he was. A little child, his son, had a saw upon his shoulders, waiting for the movements of his inebriate father, who would almost as often as he gained his feet, fall prostrate to the earth again, and thus he, "moved his slow length along." Oh, that such a beast should have a son, and that a son should be cursed with such a father! He had squandered his daily earnings, and was now endeavoring to gain that home where want, misery, and wretchedness, were waiting to receive him.

Marrying because the Weather is Cold. The Philadelphia Ledger advises bachelors to get married because the winter is upon us. How does he know that they will be bettered by the change? There is no certainty of getting a warm wife. We sleep comfortably enough though we sleep alone. There is no such botheration with us as the married men have such as your wife bawling out in the middle of the night when you are enjoying a sweet dream,

"John! take away your elbow?"
"James! lie further on the other side! You'll have me out of bed."
"Joseph? you've kicked the kiver off!"
"Henry! get up you lazy dog. It's day-break!"
"Richard! turn out, and put on the tea-kettle," &c. &c.

Nothing of the kind ever troubles us. There we lie in our little cot, (which is just large enough for one,) with the clean white sheets spread over our person, tucked comfortably in about the sides, and our head raised to a dignified height by having our corduroys stuffed under the pillow. How comfortable! We wish we were there now, instead of here. When we go to bed, we never have occasion to exclaim with the virtuous yet self [illegible] "We have lost a day!" On the contrary, we stretch our weary body out to its full length, (we don't curl ourselves up in bed, as vulgrians do,) and say in a tone of self-satisfaction—"Well here lies a single gentleman, and an honest editor, type-sticker and devil, after a hard day's work." We then say our prayers, turn over on our left side, and go to sleep. We always sleep, because there's no stains our grease spots on our conscience to prevent it. Our prayer runs something after this wise,

"Sweet powers! Grant that the Sun may have a good sale to-morrow, and the little newsboys may 'fork over' the funds punctually. Grant that Mr. will not push his bill against us till we are a little off. Grant that the buckwheat cakes may not be all eaten, before we get up. [We go in for flap-jacks.] Grant that the banks may resume specie payments when they have promised to do so. Grant that the world may grow better than it is, so that honest people like ourselves may stand a chance of getting a smack when they're hungry. Amen." [N O. Sun.

GENUINE BUFFALO OIL.
THE HAIR! THE HAIR! THE HAIR!

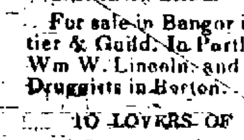

THE greatest ornament to the human body is a splendid head of hair. It has recently been discovered that the genuine Buffalo's Oil is a sovereign remedy for baldness, prevents the hair from coming off, promotes the growth, continues the luxuriance, and improves the beauty. It is far superior to any other animal or vegetable oil, and [illegible], where the hair becomes dry and begins to fall off, there is no application more effectual in restoring its beauty and rendering it in a healthy state.

It is put up at a low price, (37 1-2 cents) that all classes can have access to it. None genuine unless put up in flat bottles with HAIR OIL impressed in the glass. Also, to prevent imposition, it will be signed by the Proprietor, Wm. Brown, 431 Washington, corner of Eliot Street, Boston.

For sale in Bangor by G. W. Holden, and Whittier & Guild. In Portland by J. Durgin & Co. and Wm W. Lincoln and by most of the wholesale Druggists in Boston. wepd1tav6m oct 24 1838

TO LOVERS OF COMFORT AND EASE.
[illegible] TOOTH-ACHE!!

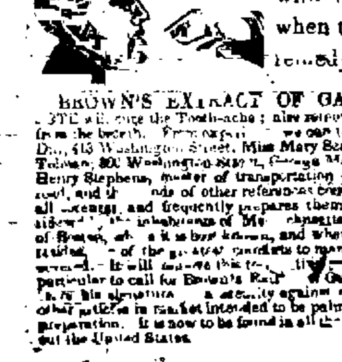

Why will you suffer with the TOOTH-ACHE, when there is a perfect remedy [illegible]

BROWN'S EXTRACT OF GALL AND KREOSOTE will cure the Tooth-ache; also remove all unpleasant smell from the breath. From experience we can testify to this fact. J. A. D[illegible], 413 Washington Street, Miss Mary Seavy, Pleasant Street, M. Tolman, 300 Washington Street, George Malvill, Lucas Place, Fitz Henry Stephens, master of transportation cars on Worcester railroad, and thousands of other references could be made. It removes all [illegible] and frequently prepares them to be filled. It is considered [illegible] the inhabitants of Massachusetts, particularly in the city of Boston, where it is best known, and where the fortunate inventor resides, [illegible] of the greatest benefits to mankind that was ever discovered. It will remove this [illegible] in the Tooth-ache. Be particular to call for Brown's Extract of Gall and Kreosote, and observe his signature [illegible] a security against counterfeits, as there are other articles in market intended to be palmed off for this invaluable preparation. It is now to be found in all the principal towns throughout the United States.

For sale in Bangor by G. W. Holden, and Whittier & Guild. In Portland by J. Durgin & Co. and Wm W. Lincoln and by most of the wholesale Druggists in Boston. wepd4taw6m oct 24 1838

THE BEST MEDICINE FOR COUGHS AND COLDS

THE best medicine for Coughs, Colds, and all Lung complaints, Hooping Cough, Spitting of Blood, Pain in the Side, Liver Complaint, and affections of the breast, is Mrs. M. N. Among the number are Liverwort, Elecampane, Boneset, Asclepias tuberosa, Iceland Moss, Squills, Hyssop, [illegible] also many other herbs not to be procured in this part of the globe. For [illegible] this valuable Balsam has been in extensive use in [illegible] of the principal towns in the Northern States, and, by the permission of those that have tested its efficacy, the Proprietor has made [illegible] all may avail [illegible] of this remedy, before the disease gets so seated that no [illegible] will remove it. Its effect on obstinate coughs is truly wonderful [illegible] the number who have proved its efficacy. From the knowledge of the materials, and the favorable effect upon our patients, [illegible] we have prescribed the above Balsam, we recommend it to be a valuable medicine [illegible] Calvin Ellis, M. To the Hon. the Justices of the Court of Common Pleas, to be holden at Bangor, in and for the County of Penobscot, on the first Tuesday of January, 1839.

RESPECTFULLY represent, Alexander Gordon and Charles Johnson, the former of Orono, and the latter of Hampden in said County of Penobscot, That they were seized in common and undivided with Ard Godfrey, John R. Godfrey and Temple Emery, all of said Orono, with John Bennoch of said Orono, and William Emerson of Bangor, of a piece or parcel of land on the southerly side of the Stillwater River, in Stillwater Village in said Orono, called the 'Mill-brow', bounded as follows, viz: beginning at a small pine and stones on the bank of the Stillwater River or Pond, thence running west 8° south 9 rods to a stake and stones; thence south 8° east 19 rods; thence east 8° north 9 rods to a ledge of rocks; thence up said stream to the first mentioned bounds; That the aforesaid parties deeming it for their mutual interest and benefit to hold and occupy said premises in severalty, on the 13th day of May A. D. 1834 entered into certain covenants to the end and purpose that a division and partition of said common premises should be made by the award and determination of Edward Kimball, William Ramsdell and Myrick Emerson. And said parties covenanted that said Kimball, Ramsdell and Emerson should set off the part or portion of said Bennoch and Emerson as one part, of said Godfrey, Godfrey and Emery as one part, & said Gordon and Johnson as one part [illegible] said parties covenanted to give deeds of quit claim, each to the others respectively, of such portions of said premises as should be awarded and set off, as aforesaid, to the others.

And said Kimball, Ramsdell and M. Emerson, afterwards and on the 16th day of May A. D. 1834 viewed and examined the premises, and made a division and partition thereof, and set off to the parties aforesaid, their portions of said estate in severalty and their award and determination was made in writing and under their seals. To the said Bennoch and Emerson they awarded and set off a portion of the premises in pursuance of said covenants as will appear by the same and their award which are recorded in the Penobscot Registry of Deeds, vol. 45, page 450, reference to which is had for a particular description. To the said Godfrey, Godfrey and Emery they awarded and set off a portion of the premises in pursuance of said covenants, as will appear by the same and the award and set off, recorded as aforesaid to which reference is made. To the said Gordon & Johnson they awarded and set off a portion of the premises as follows, viz: "beginning at the northeast corner of a two story house owned by William Hammatt, and running thence south 8° east 78 feet to the original corner of the Mill-brow; thence north 84° east to a stake 76 feet; thence parallel with the first mentioned line 81 feet to a street laid out by us from Mill street across said Mill-brow to the Stillwater canal; thence by said street to the bound first mentioned." They also awarded to said Gordon & Johnson, a certain compensation to be paid by John Bennoch, Esq. and the right of passing and repassing, over said Mill-brow, as will appear by said award.

Now your petitioners aver, that they are and have been ready and willing to make, execute and deliver to said Godfrey, Godfrey & Emery, a deed of quit claim of said parts and proportions awarded and set off to them as aforesaid, and that they your petitioners, have in all respects kept and performed the covenants by them entered into as aforesaid.

They also stand ready to perform their covenants to said Bennoch & Emerson.

Your petitioners further represent, that said John R. Godfrey & Temple Emery have been prevented by death from making, executing and delivering to your petitioners a deed or deeds of quit claim of the proportion of said Mill-brow, set off and awarded to said petitioners as aforesaid.

Wherefore your petitioners pray that Ard Godfrey of said Orono, Executor of the last Will and Testament of John R. Godfrey, and Diana G. Emery, Administratrix of the goods and estate which were of said Temple Emery, may be licensed and empowered by the Court to make and execute such conveyance or conveyances to your petitioners, as said covenanters would by their said covenants and the aforesaid proceedings be obliged to make were they living, and to do such other thing or things in the premises as this Court is authorized by law to direct, and shall seem meet and proper. And as in duty bound will ever pray.
